Intensifying the Light Fires of the Heart

Part 1

Expanding the Capacity of Your Heart Chakra To Give and to Receive

I am in the center of the sun of the most infinite, intimate being that is the one light within your heart. I come to proclaim to you the oneness of that life which we share and to shatter now the veil between the octaves of the ascended masters and the unascended ones aspiring to be whole. I desire to open wide the curtain that has been opened to you, the curtain that reveals the Tablets of Mem and the ancient memory of your life (your life as a continuity of being with the coming of the Ancient of Days) and your inner vow to write the name in sand I AM THAT I AM, to carve the name of God in stone, and to fulfill the covenant of the life lived in truth.

Part 1

Expanding the Capacity of Your Heart Chakra to Give and to Receive

Hail, fellow pilgrims on the way! I am come into your midst, in the fire infolding itself, as the flame of Lanello—one who has loved God for a thousand thousand years and will continue to love God unto the conclusion of the cycles and beyond.

I am in the center of the sun of the most infinite, intimate being that is the one light within your heart. I come to proclaim to you the oneness of that life which we share and to shatter now the veil between the octaves of the ascended masters and the unascended ones aspiring to be whole. I desire to open wide the curtain that has been opened to you, the curtain that reveals the Tablets of Mem¹ and the ancient memory of your life (your life as a continuity of being with the coming of the Ancient of Days) and your inner vow to write the name in sand I AM THAT I AM, to carve the name of God in stone, and to fulfill the covenant of the life lived in truth.

I come to show you the continuity not only of hundreds of thousands of years of lives on earth and on other planetary bodies, but the continuity of the spirit from the etheric plane, where even now you retire to octaves of light and retreats of learning and where you have come from and the same home to which you shall return. The mastery of planes of consciousness is an offering of the Great White Brotherhood unto your soul.

Would you be whole? Would you be filled with the Spirit of God? Would you scale the heights of the seven planes of heaven?

All this can come to you if you will take the disciplines of the Law and fulfill them in love. Let your understanding be of love, not the perfunctory performance of those things which are taught to you, not the ho hum of boredom as you sit in the seat of the scornful with condemnation for those who are not measuring up to your standard of perfection. Well, your thoughts are not my thoughts, saith the LORD,² and my standard is the standard of wholeness.

I am the fulfillment of the one life, and I am that one life that is a spherical consciousness of being, which you can enter if you have the courage to leave behind the moorings of the lesser self. I say to you, on the anniversary of my ascension,³ that all things are possible to you if you will try, with God, to be in the fullness of the law of your own inner light. You need no other save the Christ within and that Christ in every ascended one, which is the continuity of universal Christhood. You need no other law save the law of the saving grace of the inner light.

See, then, that you do not allow time and space to take from you your victory. Do not allow the cycles to trickle by as a lazy stream, no, but come to the fore of your own God-freedom. Come to it now and make your resolution this day that no part of life, no matter how cherished, no matter how cherished, will take from you that swift forward pace into the sun of your own God Presence, I AM.

Time moves on and space expands, and there is a whirling fire as mighty Astrea draws the sword of blue flame that is the symbol of time and the sphere that is the symbol of the transcendence of space. So the sword and the circle of Astrea symbolize the overcoming of the entire energy veil of maya that is called time and space. Do you not see, then, that the slaying of those substances that parade before you as paper tigers and paper dragons must come about swiftly with a razor's edge, with a mind that knows the mind of God because it wills to enter into communion with that God.

Commune with God. Meditate upon his law. Go into the sacred fire breath. And let your breath, as the hallowed release of the Holy Spirit, be the flowing contact of your soul with Alpha, with Omega.

The Science of the Energy of the Heart

I AM the beating of the heart of the One. Let those who seek now to demonstrate the Law come with precision into the knowledge and the science of the energy of the heart. The heart must give forth a daily release of energy that is love and wisdom and power unto this octave. And if this energy that is the requirement of the law of thy being is not given forth daily, then the heart cannot be emptied, then the heart cannot be filled. And in order for the heart to continue to live in this plane, it must be filled daily by those increments of fire that come directly from your own God Presence, I AM.

Now, when you receive that light in the heart, if you seal it there with hardness and qualify it as hatred and darkness, then you will not have that energy to release in the balance of the threefold flame. And there will come the encrustations of the chakra at all planes of your being, and you will find that the process of old age and death, disease and dying will begin by the degeneration of the uses of the energies of the heart.

Understand, then, this science, that the giving of the self in service and in meditation and in the science of mantras and in the victory of decrees is most essential to the health of the body of God on earth. For the revivifying fires must flow and must continue to flow. And if they are blocked, then they will recede, and then you will find yourself out of the spirals of eternity, cut off from the flow of cosmic consciousness, going the way of mortality and of death.

The Nexus of the Flow of Cosmic Forces

Behold, I have said, ye are gods!⁴ Fulfill, then, the law of the gods. Fulfill the law of the one God, personified throughout a cosmos of personifications of the God flame. Do not live or die as men, as mere mortals, but fulfill the law of immortality here and now! This is what I call you to, and I have called you to this again and again. But have you heard and remembered?

I am attempting to pierce veils of maya and densities in your consciousness, which allow you to listen to me speak to you and yet not realize what I am saying. I am saying that I am here and now and that the hosts of light are here and now manifest in the City of the Angels, that they are as close to you as your very breath—the sacred fire breath given to you by the Holy Spirit and released to you in the exercise of the breath which I have taught to you.

Understand, then, that the release of that energy is the crossing of the lines of the octaves. And this is what we desire—that you shall walk on your tippy toes and thereby meet the eyes of angels who are a little taller than yourselves, that you shall walk on those tippy toes and thereby feel the acceleration of your entire being to new heights of consciousness where you will find yourselves conversing with elemental life and the beings of nature in direct cooperation for the salvation of the earth. I am showing you the spanning of the cycles and the law of transcendence.

Do not allow yourself to be lethargic, to be weighted down with the substances of this life and the things that you take into your body temples which you ought not to take in. But see, rather, that you experience a quickening in your cells and a wholeness there whereby you are responsive to the chords of the resurrection spirit. See, then, that you understand that by the exaltation of your life and your heart, you will scrape the skyey dome of heaven and find yourselves touching the hem of the garment of those ones who have come for the deliverance of the captives of the nations and of Terra.

See, then, that there is required a body of God on earth who are living just midpoint between the octaves. And that midpoint is your own Christ Self, your own Christ-realization, and that midpoint is the contact of the Word and the messenger in your midst. That midpoint is the nexus of the flow of cosmic forces, which you need in order to establish your ground here in the New Jerusalem. See, then, that you come into alignment with it and find yourself in the mind of Christ that is holy discrimination and the seeing of light and darkness, right and wrong, good and evil.

See, then, that that point between octaves is also the manifestation of the fullness of love—love that brings on the judgment, for love that is so great and so intense that it would rescue the souls of humanity from the fallen ones and, thereby, it would bring to them the judgment that is like the descending sword, the sword that cuts, then, to the quick the hearts of those who are out of the presence of God and the sword that separates truth from error in all. Love that is the quickening, then, comes quickly to divide men in the way, to the right and to the left. And ultimately that point at the nexus is the power that you receive by the action of goodwill and your oneness with all of the laws of God that are required of thy soul.

The Burning Fire of the Heart Is Your Salvation

See, then, children of the One, that you realize that because I have walked among you and I have ascended, you can do the same. You can walk midst the multitudes. You can proclaim the Word. You can be the release of the most intense, fiery light from the heart of God unto this people. And by releasing that pressure of energy, intensifying daily, delivering again and again the admonishments of the Keeper of the Scrolls, you will expand the capacity of your heart chakra to give and to receive.

And the more you give, the more the LORD God will intensify the light fires of your heart until you find yourself in the spiraling energies of the ascension flame, as I found myself on that very day of days taken up into a cloud of white fire right over that city of Colorado Springs, right over the summit of Pike's Peak, there to behold the summit (The Summit Lighthouse and the summit of the world, the summit of the attainment of the sons and daughters of God), to look up and to behold the sons of light welcoming me into a new threshold of awareness, and to look down and see sons and daughters of light waving to me and wishing me well and sending blessings.

This is the point between worlds to which I send your souls, and I tell you that you can be at that point here and now. You need not take your ascension in order to maintain that contact. But this you must do, this one requirement—the burning of the fires of the heart, the burning of the heart that consumes the cause and core of strife in this octave, the cause and core of sin. This is the burning of the Holy Spirit, who must, then, live in your heart.

That burning fire released in all of the works of God that must be wrought in this age is your certain salvation. For the very intensity of the release impels the law of God to descend into your being and to make of your very life a whirling force-field that draws all men of light into the light of God that never fails!

To Win the Goal of Ascension's Glory

I look to the quickening for you. I look for your redemption. I look for your discipleship. I look for your realization that this is real, this is life, this is now!

And you can be the fulfillment of our inner vow in this moment in eternity whereby you take the diamond of the pen of the Mother and write a writing on the wall of the world—a writing that speaks of love as the key, a writing that compels the soul to Home, a writing that is known of the Ancient of Days and of the ancient lore of the mystery schools, a writing that will be read by souls of light and souls of darkness who will dread your footsteps on the Path and in the way, a writing that will be told; for it is thrice foretold by God, the holy prophets and the revelation of the Lord Christ. A writing on the wall of life you shall write.

I will be there to hold your hand and to win in the fight. I will be there, then, to consume all strife, and I will be there to bring forth that eternal light. I will stand to guide and guard. In your very midst I will be the quickening fire. I will be the center and the sphere of your overcoming of time and space. And I will be the plunging of the sword into the cause and core of the lesser self. Let it die! Its time has come to go the way of the leaves that fall in autumn. Let it die, the lesser self. It has fulfilled its purpose.

Now the coming of the Greater Self to all is this, this—the call, the call that comes forth from the realm of light. And in the call is the intoning of the Word. It is the tuning of the soul and of the sword. It is the bringing into that pitch of life, that fever pitch, the soul's compassion. And filled with passion for the Lord of Life, the soul now enters the walk of the stations of the cross of Christ.

Victors bold walk before you in the way. They are wearing their laurel wreaths to inspire you this day. And they show you where the line is drawn of those who wear the laurel wreath and those who now must put it on by self-sacrifice and overcoming, by joy and laughter and all of the zest of life that is of the Prince, the Christ, the Holy One of Israel.

He comes to redeem the nations. He comes to take his throne, the Three-in-One, in every capitol and in the very dome. He comes to be centered in the heart. He wields his scepter of authority. He comes in the name of a holy hierarchy, and he comes to bless the sacred children of the light. He comes to draw the nations and the tribes. He comes to confute the Pharisees and the scribes. He comes to enter in, into every heart where Christ is bid and will enter and will win. He comes to every heart to kindle that all-consuming fire that is the fire to propel you higher and higher in consciousness until you stand before, in the presence of the Lord of all, before the multitudes, and you declare with him of old, "Behold, I AM the risen Christ! Behold, I AM alive forevermore!"⁵

Proclaim eternal life here and now. And let the shedding of the Serpent's skin be for your mastery and your victory now to win—to win the goal of ascension's glory, to win the goal whereby you, before them all, will tell that story, a sacred rhyme and verse and prose. Yet it is not prosaic, but it is that flame of truth that does endure throughout the centuries and the cycles that come from Ur of the ancient, of the Chaldees,⁶ where you also were once incarnated, there to witness the cycling of a son of God, the ascension of another, and the degradation of a civilization.

We Will Speak the Word Wherever We Will Be Heard

I am Lanello, standing in the place of Ikhnaton.⁷ I am one with the atom of life, and I am one with the atom of the sun of Self. I proclaim the one God. I proclaim the mystery of the cells in the body of that one God. I proclaim the mystery of the ascended masters to every Christian, to every Buddhist, to every Muslim. I send forth the challenge for the understanding of the one true God, whose components of self-awareness as infinity do manifest here in these octaves as ascended masters and unascended souls striving to be whole.

Let any part of life challenge the manifestation of this life of God-mastery in the Spirit of the Great White Brotherhood. I say to you, God will also challenge you this day to prove your life where you stand and where you sit, where you walk and talk. And if you cannot prove your life, then I say, dare not challenge the life of those who have proved beyond question that immortality is the law of the ages and the fulfillment of the saints and of the sages.

I come to you in the spirit of the prophets of Israel, and I walk across the land America this day with Godfre.⁸ We are prophets come to the children of Israel, and we will speak the Word wherever we will be heard. We will speak it in the ear and in the heart, in the conscience and in the soul. We will speak it from the pulpit and we will speak it through the media. Watch for our Word, then. For we will impress it upon the very voice of the children of God dwelling in this land.

Know, then, that many of the prophets of Israel have come, have come again, to claim this land and this people as a remnant. And the remnant of the earth is that body of souls who are willing to return to the law of the One and to sacrifice whatever be necessary that they might be the remnant for the atonement of the sins of the people of the earth. Atonement is a very necessary process of the soul that has gone out of the way of the law of the One to return to the cycles of perfection and to be held consummate in the consummation of love.

Trust Is the Code of Hierarchy

I am in the hand of love. I am held in the hand of the God, the very God himself. And I hold you in my hand, even as you hold in your hand the tiny babe and the ones who come for nourishment and for life. Let, therefore, the chain of hierarchy from the Central Sun to the law of the One incarnate be the extension of the hand—the hand of the helper, the comforter, the worker, the one who can be trusted, the one whose firm handshake conveys, then, the spirit of trust and friendship.

Trust is the code of hierarchy and of unascended chelas. Let, then, those who cannot trust their God or the ascended masters look to see whether or not God or the ascended masters can trust them. If you have been untrustworthy toward your God, then why do you wonder that you have not the trust in your being directed toward the God of love? As you have sown, so shall you reap.⁹

Therefore I say, invoke the flame of trust, which is the beginning and the end of the cross of Alpha. The trust of God is the necessary crucifixion of the lesser self that nobility and honor might rule the Divine Us. And the Divine Us we have sealed as a cosmic honor flame of these United States¹⁰—fifty states of consciousness united in the law of the One for the overcoming of the testing of the ten that is the victory of selflessness in all.¹¹

Let trust be the motto of those who trust in God and those in whom God may place his trust. Let trust be, then, the point of mediation between our octave and yours. For where there is trust, you see, there the handshake will be when you place your hand in my own and in the hand of Christ and in the hand of Saint Germain and El Morya and in the hand of the Elohim. And the shaking of the hand will provide the crisscrossing of the pattern of the figure eight so that the hand of man clasping the hand of God will show the nexus where that energy is received.

That handshake is the symbol of the covenant betwixt God and man, which is fulfilled in you this day. That handshake, shaking the hand of the ascended masters, is this: It is the overthrowing and the defying of those energies of mortals who, instead of shaking hands with God and the emissaries of God (as an act of receiving the LORD into their midst), instead take their fists and clench their fists and shake their fists in defiance and in condemnation and in a very challenge to the LORD God to dare the LORD God to come down to the earth and judge them this day.

Well, I tell you that the LORD God has heard their defiance and has heard their challenge. And the LORD God descends, then, into the very midst of those who have the righteous use of the Law for the judgment of those who have failed to place their hand in the hand of God.

Become the Instrument of the LORD's Judgment

Let it be, then, that all those who pursue the fire of the heart become the instrument of the LORD's judgment. By judgment are you healed. For you see, when you are judged and you are found in the fulfillment of the Law, then heaven opens your causal body of light and allows to come to you the outpouring of gifts and graces and cycles of wholeness and energies of the crystal clear River of Life.¹² That flowing stream then brings to you the light of the eye, the glistening of your face, the wholeness of your body, and the inspiration for your work in the Holy Spirit.

Thus the judgment brings to some the gifts and graces of the Spirit, and to others it brings the backwash of their own misqualified energies. Let it be so.

By judgment I ascended into the Presence of God. By judgment I deliver to you this Word. By judgment you have sealed your place in the New Jerusalem. And by judgment you will win that place if you have the will to prove the law of harmony and of abundance, if you have the God-determination to stand upon that holy ground and to defend it against the hordes of Mara and to declare your right to be doing what you are doing¹³—to be serving, to be publishing the teachings of the ascended masters; to be serving, to be sacrificing, to be surrendering, and to be giving voice to the very fiats of the soul!
