

Beloved Spirit of the Resurrection

The First Resurrection and the Second Resurrection Part 2

Take, then, the cup and drink the elixir, and know that that bubbling essence, that substance that rises and that is that tingling sensation throughout your bodies is the movement of the currents of the sacred energies of God.

Resurrection, then, is movement! It is action! It is the consciousness of God! Therefore be not as the living dead, sitting in your seats as mummies, falling asleep when you give your invocations, falling asleep when you ought to be diligent in hearing the Word of God! You cannot enter into the consciousness of God in a sleep state—no, not with your level of attainment of mastery! Not unless you have placed your body to rest and you are exalted in the higher consciousness of the third and the fifth planes of heaven.

I tell you, be diligent! For indeed you know not...

The First Resurrection and the Second Resurrection

Part 2

I ask you, how can you sit quietly by and call forth the will of God for yourself and fail to call it forth for the nations, for the peoples, for the generations, for worlds beyond worlds beyond this system of worlds?

Do you not understand that there is no time or space, that the call is the Word, that the Word is beyond all outer definition and limitation, that the Word goes forth out of the mouth of God in you?

And the speaking of that Word is the resolving of all darkness. It is the resolution. It is the balance. It is the flame of victory. It is your initiation of the Holy Spirit. It is the hour when you give forth those energies of God to confirm here and millions of years away all energies of God in time and space. It is when you give forth that Word to confirm that judgment, that justice, that love, and that truth that shall be life and eternal life for all souls of God forevermore.

Understand, O people of God, that this is the hour to feel the bubbling of the currents of the resurrection flame and to take the great elixir of life that is handed to you by angelic hands in a cup that is fashioned after your own cup of consciousness!

Take, then, the cup and drink the elixir, and know that that bubbling essence, that substance that rises and that is that tingling sensation throughout your bodies* is the movement of the currents of the sacred energies of God.

Resurrection, then, is movement! It is action! It is the consciousness of God! Therefore be not as the living dead, sitting in your seats as mummies, falling asleep when you give your invocations, falling asleep when you ought to be diligent in hearing the Word of God! You cannot enter into the consciousness of God in a sleep state—no, not with your level of attainment of mastery! Not unless you have placed your body to rest and you are exalted in the higher consciousness of the third and the fifth planes of heaven.

I tell you, be diligent! For indeed you know not when the hour of the coming of the Christ will be.¹ As he has said, he comes as a thief in the night.² And what is the night? It is the darkest hour of your consciousness, when you are grappling with the most profound misqualifications of energies, when you are having to deal with that darkness. And just at that moment when you allow yourself to be overcome by that darkness, then you find that Christ comes, and he comes to touch you and to show you that you must be diligent to be in his Presence and in his flame.

For in that hour of the coming is the confirmation, is the release of the sacred fire for that new birth and for that resurrection. And if you are found weighted down in self-pity and sympathy with yourself and your old ways, you will not be able to put on the garment of God.

I tell you, the initiations come. And when they come, they indeed come quickly. It is the path leading to the initiations that requires the cycles that pass through time and space.

*This may be referring to the four lower bodies of man—the etheric, mental, emotional, and physical bodies.

And therefore understand that although the flow of life may go on, week in, week out, month in, month out, and you may see very little change on the surface of consciousness, know this: that deep within you there is the movement of the currents of life, there is transmutation, and there is the energy of the Holy Spirit. And all at once, when that energy within is expanding in a spiral of light and is moving to the outer consciousness, there will be that moment when you are there, called upon to stand, face, and conquer the darkest energies of your existence.

And you will say to yourself, "I am making no progress on the Path. I was better off when I was in the old way and in the old teaching. I will leave the teachings of the ascended masters. I will place myself elsewhere because I knew and felt God then." Well I tell you, a part of the requirement of knowing God and receiving the Christ coming into your being is to pass through these darkest energies of life.

Now, I have seen long enough those souls who have come into the flame, who have tarried a month or a year, five or ten years, and then just when they were strong enough and had enough teaching of the Law and enough presence of the Holy Spirit within their midst to face that darkness, so the darkness was released. And when they saw the darkness they were convinced, then, that the teaching was not true. They were convinced, then, that this was not the path that was true, and therefore they left!

And just at that moment when these souls could have made the call, the one call of liberation and put into the flame all of that accumulation of the centuries of darkness, they were found no longer in the center of the temple but they had gone a-whoring after other gods, as the children of Israel went out after the cults of Baal.

And then, I say, in the hour of the coming of the Christ into the temple, shortly thereafter there is the coming of the Christ to initiate the soul and to roll up as a scroll that darkness and to put it to the taper of life so that it might be consumed. So the soul was not found in the temple, and lo, Christ came! And lo, the winds blew! And lo, the temple was found without the soul who was to be initiated in the Lord!

Well, I desire, then, that this teaching should go forth abroad among the chelas of the Path so that they might understand that the first entering into the Path is with joy and light, as it is the newness of the first resurrection and the separation out from the darkness of the world. And then there is the walking of the Path through the spirals of consciousness, and then there is the hour just before the second resurrection of the facing of that darkness of the tomb.

Can you not see? Can you not hear? Can you not know the signs of the hours? Can you not observe the life of all the saints, of the Christ, of Buddha, and of the mystics of the ages? Do you not understand that one and all walk through that flame, that fiery flame of the purging of consciousness?

I say, do not turn back when you find yourself receiving that which he prophesied—the persecutions. For so were the prophets persecuted and all who have gone before you. That persecution is only that substance that is in yourself that must come forth for transmutation, and therefore you see that substance objectified around you in the world.

Give thanks to God that those who are in the world and those who are even your friends and the members of your own household can be the instruments of the Lord's coming, can be the instruments whereby you stand and face and conquer that substance. Be grateful that initiation smiles in the face of friend and foe alike and that by knowing those who come to you, those sent by the LORD God, you may also know him face-to-face.

Understand, then, that the way that seemeth right is the way of death.³ And the way of the path of initiation will bring you to that place, that precipice where you say to yourself, “Surely this must not be the way.” And in that moment the LORD God will ring and the voice will ring from Horeb’s Height and you will hear that word, “This is the way! This is the way of the LORD! Walk ye in it!”⁴

I say to you, O children of the light, you do not seem to have the understanding of the Path or the understanding of the great teachers or the necessity to be disciples of the great teachers.

Do you not understand that all that you have seen and heard of God has come to you through the great teachers of all time and space, that to know him independently of these gurus would require vast millions of years of experimentation, which still would not lead you to that place of seeing him face-to-face?

Therefore be glad and rejoice! For as you have learned the teaching and the Law in the presence of the teachers, so you have learned the path of initiation in the presence of all mankind. And in the very presence of the enemies of the light you will manifest the victory if you will take my message this day and be smart! Be smart!

This is a path that requires discrimination. It is a path that requires your consideration and your pondering of the Law, your meditating upon that Law, and your understanding that few there be that find that strait gate.⁵

So, then, come in. Come in through the door of the consciousness of the Christ and know that you cannot bring with you through that door all of the comforts of your carnal-mindedness. You must leave them on the doorstep and you must choose this day either the comforts of this life or the consciousness of God, which spans all life—this life, the next, and the life beyond and the life beyond.

For you see, we do not come promising you a future glory. We tell you that here and now in the living Spirit of the Resurrection you can know God! You can live in the presence of angels! You can live with your feet firmly planted on the earth in the mastery of time and space and in the mastery of the four elements! You can be in this octave and yet simultaneously know all octaves of God’s consciousness! It simply requires the congruency of the mind and the body and the soul. And this congruency cannot be had and won unless you are willing to surrender all for the goal.

Understand, O precious ones, that I AM in the living Spirit of the Resurrection, that every day I behold not one but hundreds and thousands of souls who actually determine by their own independent decision to bypass that living Spirit of the Resurrection. And they choose death instead of life. Every day souls on Terra and on other planetary bodies in this system of worlds are choosing death, not life.

Why is it? Well, sometimes I choose to believe that it is because they do not know any better. And therefore when I am in that consciousness of the mind of God, then I come forth to teach the Law. And when I have taught the Law for generations and aeons, then sometimes I say to myself, “It is not because they do not know better. It is because they have not forged a will to know better!”

And I see, then, that it is the will that is lacking! For I see that there are many who have been taught by many teachers in all ages, and yet they come. Yet they come to the altar and to the fount of life, to their own individual Christ Self, and they hold back that part of the price that is necessary for this ultimate congruency with life.

I tell you, while you have the teachers in your midst, that I pray that you will understand that all of the teaching, as all of the gold of the earth, will do you no good unless you have a standard and that that standard be the will of God in you, forged and won and surrendered to! Understand that will of God and understand that that will is alive as a daily challenge, as the action of the Holy Spirit, that it is a daily forging of the consciousness of the mind of God.

If you will to put on God's mind, you can put on God's mind! And this is the statement of the law of being. Failure, then—failure to appropriate life while life is in your midst—is the act of suicide. It is spiritual suicide! For you know not the day and the hour when the return of Christ will be once you have closed the door to the emissary of Christ.

I AM in the flame of the resurrection!

I AM the Spirit of the New Day!

I AM the resurrection of Los Angeles!

I AM the resurrection of the New Jerusalem!

I AM the resurrection of the lively stones!

I AM the resurrection of threefold flames that would atone!

I AM the resurrection in your midst of mission, of community, of oneness, and the teaching!

I AM the resurrection of cosmic purpose and of your divine plan fulfilled!

You can be all that I AM if by your free will you choose to be, in God this day, God's will!

Amen.
